S.C. operators stand ready to toast new free-pour law

We've seen the images of death and destruction everywhere--on television, in newspapers and in magazines.

The recent tsunami disaster in Southeast Asia, the faces of its victims and survivors, and the recovery efforts that now are taking place have affected everyone across the globe.

But perhaps one of the most unforgettable aspects of the tragedy, besides the utter devastation, is the compassion that has been shown by countless individuals to those in need.

To that end, the responses of people, particularly those within the restaurant industry, have been quick, efficient and, most important, heartwarming. But that is no surprise.

In times of strife or tragedy, the foodservice community consistently has led the way in helping to ease the pain and suffering of those who
